

International Travel Options for the Escape Room

An International storyline can be purchased to compliment the locations and security concepts appropriate to any country, using the props you already have for domestic training. We will also send you soft material files (badge, printed phishing emails) that better reflect the culture of the country you are visiting. Just give Living Security 30-day notice to ensure you and your room are prepared for the trip.

You can also purchase language packs. While a lot of international staff speak English, we find the engagement is much more enjoyable if experienced in a person's native tongue.

Whether we are involved or not with your trip, here is some things to keep in mind:

- Ensure travel containers meet international transportation size requirements
- Carry an inventory list referring to your items as theater props or conference materials
- Bring at least four international power adapters
- Do not pack batteries - plan on buying them there
- If you have the fire extinguisher prop, take it apart and pack the pieces in separate luggage
- Lastly, no matter how familiar you are with your Escape Room, there's nothing like a second set of expert eyes. Schedule an overseas test-run with us so we can be available to help.
